

MAN HAD SMALL-POX IN HOSPITAL WARD

Had Been There a Week Before Doctors Discovered His Ailment.

LIVELY DISINFECTING

Patients and Visitors Alike Detained in Jersey City Institution.

George Dale, a young Pennsylvanian, has been in a public ward of the Jersey City Hospital a week when a physician discovered that he had a well developed case of smallpox. Now the vaccinators of Jersey City are having the times of their lives.

Dale had been boarding several weeks at the home of Mrs. Valentine, No. 323 Van Horn street. In the house were three other boarders, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine and their three children. On Thursday of last week Dale was taken with a fever and severe pains in the back. He went to the hospital where his case was diagnosed as some simple trouble. He was put in a long room with a dozen others.

Yesterday was visitors' day. In the afternoon the ward was full of women callers. A surgeon passing through was attracted by a peculiar red rash on Dale's face. A second look told him that it was smallpox. Orders were at once given to lock the doors and hold all the occupants of the ward—patients and visitors alike—as prisoners, until they had been fumigated and vaccinated. Three women refused at first to be vaccinated, but they weakened when a wagon came to take them to the pest-house, where Dale had already been sent.

Today the contents of Dale's room at Mrs. Valentine's house were buried. All the inmates of the house had to have their arms to the vaccine points. Two hundred hands at Joshua Partridge's wood-working factory, where Dale worked, were also vaccinated.

CARNEGIE GIVES HOPE TO NEGROES

Education and Development of Colored Race Not Sectional, He Says.

TUSKEGEE, Ala., April 6.—

The third and concluding day of Tuskegee's silver jubilee was marked by the attendance of an immense throng. The programme included several notable addresses, concluding with that of Andrew Carnegie last evening. Mr. Carnegie said in part: "It is impossible that educated Southern white people could find life agreeable or inspiring and fruitful, yielding all its sweet graces, surrounded by an inferior race sunk in ignorance and squalor. Human society is one great whole and the degradation of one part injures and lowers the lives of the others."

Immediate task in hand has been to demonstrate whether or not there lay in the colored race capacity for improvement. The teachers already produced—ministers, lawyers, doctors and members of all the other professions, the professors seen here and elsewhere in their colleges, the steady increase of taxable property owned by negroes and what we see here to-day—give the convincing answer. The negro, just like our own race, raises himself whenever he obtains freedom of action and education. The question is no longer open. Hampton and Tuskegee and several similar institutions have settled it for all time.

"This is no sectional question. It is national, and we of the North cannot evade the responsibilities of the situation."

KILLS PUGILIST IN FRIENDLY BOUT

Clever Fighter Dies of Blow in Solar Plexus Landed by Novice.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 6.—

Mike Benyo, a local prize-fighter, who had participated in many bouts in this vicinity, was instantly killed yesterday by Nicholas Verra in a friendly bout at the Star Junction tipple of the Washington Coal and Coke Company. Both men were miners on strike.

For a long time there had been a friendly rivalry between the two men as to their fistie ability, which was accentuated by their attachment for a young woman, so the men engaged in a ten-round battle for the entertainment of the crowd.

Benyo was cleverer by far than his rival, but the latter was larger and stronger. In the third round Verra landed a terrific blow on Benyo's solar plexus. The man went down in a heap, and in ten minutes was dead.

Charles Martin, Painter, Dead. LONDON, April 6.—Charles Martin, the portrait painter, died yesterday. He lived for many years in America, where he drew the portraits and enjoyed the friendship of Washington Irving, Daniel Webster, Henry W. Longfellow and other prominent men.
